INTRODUCTION

Catad'Or, with 27 years of experience and prestige of inalienable technical rigor, has been evaluating spirits since 2014.

In 2021, Catad'Or together with ANIAE (Asociación Nacional de Ingenieros Agrónomos Enólogos de Chile) convenes a panel of experts in various spirits and in international competitions in order to elaborate the technical bases for the organization of the first International Spirits Competition of South America called Catad'Or World Spirits Awards.

Catad'Or World Spirits Awards will be held between October 31 and November 03, 2022 at Hotel Cumbres Lastarria, in Santiago de Chile.

Chile is a referent in the production and export of grape distillates, and its national distilled beverage is the Chilean Pisco. The experience and seriousness of its professionals and its pisco industry have endorsed the most important and high-profile competition in the Southern Cone of America for 7 years.

The 2022 edition of the Catad'Or World Spirits Awards is open to all producers, cooperatives, traders, importers (facilitators) of spirits from all over the world.

For based-grape distillates, the competition has the high patronage of OIV, International Organization of Vineyard and Wine, and for the rest of the categories, the sponsorship of the UIOE, International Union of Oenologists and VINO FED, international organizations that send special commissioners to participate. The competition is carried out strictly following the rules of international competitions.

A jury of 35 international experts from different countries of the world, America, Asia and Europe participate as tasters. The tasting sessions are blind and reward the products with rigor, impartiality and quality.

The competition awards and then spread the excellence of spirits through the Catad'Or World Spirits Awards seal, which guarantees the quality of the awarded products and enjoys well-deserved prestige and international recognition in America, Asia and Europe.

ARTICLE I: GOALS OF THE COMPETITION

Catad'Or World Spirits Awards and Catad'Or World Wine Awards, with 27 years of experience, are the wine and spirits competitions with the longest tradition in Latin America. The competition is 100% private and independent and has an expert technical panel that ensures the technical and logistical rigor of the contest (www.catador.cl).

Catad'Or World Spirits Awards brings together a select international jury made up of renowned professionals, master distillers, oenologists, sommeliers, specialized journalists, with vast experience in international competitions in the most important consumer and producer markets for the distillate industry, which evaluates products under strict standards of international competitions and organizations such as OIV, UIOE, International Union of Oenologists and VINO FED.

Foreign juries are recognized and respected voices in their respective countries, building prestige and generating publications, interviews and business contacts for producers. Additionally, national judges recognized for their ability, integrity and independence participate, as well as specialists from the schools of Enology of the University of Chile, the Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile and the Association of Agricultural Engineers Oenologists of Chile.

The evaluation of the products is computerized and is carried out by means of an OIV electronic file, on the visual, olfactory, impression on the palate and general harmony of the product.

GENERAL GOALS

- Promote knowledge of good quality spirits.
- Stimulate its production and responsible consumption as a factor of civilization.
- Make known and present to the public the characteristic types of spirits of origin produced in the different countries and regions of the world.
- Strengthen the technical and scientific level of the producers.
- Contribute to the expansion of the culture of spirits.
- Promote spirits in the final markets through exhibitions in different cities around the world, including Chile, in order to stimulate the production of exportable spirits aimed at quality.
- Summon foreign experts to spread, in their respective countries and media, information regarding the progress of the production of distillates in the participating countries.
- Generate a marketing tool for the promotion of spirits that have obtained recognition in the competition. The Catad'Or World Spirits Awards medal is a differentiating element that guides the consumer and is highly recognized in important markets such as Brazil and Asia.
- Achieve a great impact and international press coverage before, during and after the contest.

ARTICLE VI: JURY AND TASTING SESSIONS

JURY

The organizers and the technical panel of the Catad'Or World Spirits Awards designate the series of judges. Judges are selected from among the best recognized specialists in tasting matters in national and international competitions and tasting panels and from a wide range of backgrounds, such as professional distillers, winemakers, marketing, consumption and communication professionals. The total number of international judges is determined based on the number of samples submitted, keeping at least 3 international judges * per tasting table.

* Repealed by OIV due to COVID-19, keeping at least 2 international judges until December 2022.

PRESIDENT OF THE JURY: Catad'Or World Spirits Awards ensures the smooth running of the contest and appoints a president of the jury. The president of the jury is the recognized oenologist María Isabel González, with vast experience in the alcohol, distillate and spirits industry.

Accompanied by a technical panel of the contest and the OIV commissioner, they are in charge of verifying compliance with the regulations, the preparation of the samples, the organization and performance of the tastings and their appreciation thanks to the appropriate file, control, exploitation and publication from the results.

TASTING SESSIONS

Distillates will be tasted according to their category; the samples are covered in a neutral packaging that hides their shape and label and guarantees their anonymity. The appreciation of the distillates will be descriptive and will include comments on:

- Visual aspect
- Olfactory aspect
- Impression on the palate
- Product harmony

After the competition, participating companies will be able to access through their private account the detailed score per tasting table for each of their submitted products.

ARTICLE VII: SAMPLE PREPARATION

The samples will be received in our warehouse and stored in a secure cellar with temperature control. Once the documentation is verified, they will be coded and entered into the computer system where they will be classified by type. Later they will be transferred to the tasting location where they will be received in a room adjacent to the tasting room, to be administered by qualified personnel who will ensure the temperature and order of tasting according to category, type of product, subcategory, classification. The jury will not have access to this logistical room. The spirits will be served entirely covered ensuring the anonymity of the samples.

ARTICLE VIII: MEDALS AND TROPHIES

The total number of medals awarded by the jury may not exceed 30% of the universe of products submitted to the contest. In relation to the scores obtained in the tasting sessions, the numerical means by which the competing products will be able to aspire to the following prizes will be determined:

- Great Gold Medal (reference 92 points or more)
- Gold Medal (reference 89 to 91.9 points)
- Silver Medal (reference 86 to 88.9 points*)

Some scores could not obtain the medal since the total number of medals awarded by the jury cannot exceed 30% of the wines presented in quantity and the average is regulated in this category.

A producer can receive a maximum number of 12 medals.

CATEGORIES AND SUB CATEGORIES SPECIFICATIONS

PISCO

Chilean Pisco:

Traditional Pisco: Its alcoholic graduation is 30 ° GL.

Pisco Especial: Its alcoholic graduation is 35 ° GL.

Pisco Reserved: Its alcoholic graduation is 40 ° GL.

Gran Pisco: Its alcoholic graduation is higher than 45 ° GL.

RON

Rum is a spirit drink obtained by the fermentation and distillation of sugar cane juice or molasses and syrups from sugar production or a mixture of these.

GIN

London Dry Gin: Gin of traditional character with predominantly juniper flavor with traditional botanical and flavor profiles (eg. juniper, angelica root, orris root, coriander seeds, citrus), in which all botanicals have been exclusively integrated via redistillation together with a neutral alcohol base. Sugar content no more than 0.1 g / l.

Distilled Gin: Gin obtained by redistilling a neutral distillate with juniper and a selection of botanicals. This resulting distillate may have been flavored and sweetened post distillation. It has organoleptic characteristics mainly of juniper.

Compound Gin: Gin in which there is no redistillation, botanicals including juniper and flavors (natural or artificial) have been incorporated through a maceration of these in a neutral alcohol. It has organoleptic characteristics mainly of juniper.

Old Tom Style Gin: Gin that can be distilled from barley or other non-neutral alcohols or a mixture of these. It can be flavored, naturally or artificially sweetened and post-distillation aged. It has organoleptic characteristics mainly of juniper.

Contemporary Gin: a type of Distilled Gin in which the Juniper characteristics are perceived, but in addition to other botanical or non-traditional flavor profiles (eg, intense floral, spicy or herbal profiles).

VODKA

Traditional Vodka: Vodka produced from ethyl alcohol from the fermentation and distillation of agricultural raw materials in whose distillation process its organoleptic characteristics have been substantially reduced.

Contemporary Vodka: those Vodkas from agricultural raw material distillates, not flavored, that still have organoleptic traces attributable to the raw material of origin.
