INTRODUCTION

Catad'Or World Wine Awards, Santiago de Chile, in its 27th edition, will be held between October 31 and November 03, 2022 at Hotel Cumbres Lastarria, in Santiago de Chile.

Chile is the fourth largest wine exporter in the world and the first in the new world. The experience and seriousness of its professionals and its wine industry have endorsed for 27 years the most important and most influential contest in the Southern Cone of America.

The 27th edition of the Catad'Or World Wine Awards is open to all producers, cooperatives, traders, importers (facilitators) of wines and spirits from around the world.

The competition is sponsored by the OIV, the International Organization of Vine and Wine, the UIOE, the International Union of Oenologists and VINO FED, international organizations that send special commissioners, and is carried out strictly following the rules of international competitions.

A jury of 70 international experts from 14 countries in America, Asia and Europe participate as tasters. The tasting sessions are blind and reward products with rigor, impartiality and quality, in the categories of still wines, sparkling and fortified.

The competition awards and then spreads the excellence of the wines through the Catad'Or seal, which guarantees the quality of the award-winning products and enjoys well-deserved prestige and international recognition in Asia, Europe and America.

ARTICLE I: GOALS OF THE COMPETITION

Catad'Or World Wine Awards, with 27 years of experience, is the wine competition with the longest tradition in Latin America. The competition is 100% private and independent and has a technical panel of experts (www.catador.cl), whose mission is to ensure the technical and logistical rigor of the competition.

Every year, Catad'Or World Wine Awards brings together a select international jury composed of renowned professionals, oenologists and specialized journalists with vast experience in international competitions and from the most important consumer and producer markets for the wine industry such as Brazil, the United States, England, China, Canada, Japan, France, Spain, Italy, among others, which evaluates the wines under the strict standards of the OIV. Foreign juries are recognized and respected voices in their respective countries, building prestige and generating publications, interviews and business contacts for winemakers. Additionally, national judges recognized for their capacity, integrity and independence participate, as well as specialists from the Viticulture and Oenology schools of the University of Chile, the Pontifical Catholic University of Chile and the Association of Agricultural Engineers Oenologists of Chile.

The evaluation of the wines is carried out by means of an OIV electronic file, on the visual, olfactory, impression on the palate and general harmony of the product.

GENERAL GOALS

- Promote knowledge of good quality wines and fermented drinks of viticultural origin.
- Stimulate its production and responsible consumption as a factor of civilization.
- Make known and present to the public the characteristic types of wine produced in the different countries and regions of the world.
- Strengthen the technical and scientific level of the producers.
- Contribute to the expansion of the wine culture.
- Promote the award-winning wines in the final markets through exhibitions in different countries around the world, including Chile, in order to stimulate the production of exportable wines that aim at quality.

- Summon foreign experts to disseminate, in their respective countries and the media, information related to the progress of viticulture in the participating countries.
- Generate a marketing tool to promote the wines that have been recognized in the contest. The Catad'Or medal is a differentiating element that guides the consumer and is highly recognized in important markets such as Brazil and Asia.
- Achieve a great impact and international press coverage before, during and after the contest.

ARTICLE VI: JURY AND TASTING SESSIONS

JURY

The organizers and the technical panel of the Catad'Or World Wine Awards designate the series of judges. The judges are selected from among the best recognized specialists in tasting matters in national and international competitions and tasting panels and from a wide variety of media, such as professional winemakers, marketing, consumption and communication. The total number of international judges is determined based on the number of samples submitted, keeping at least 3 international judges* per tasting table.

*Repealed by OIV due to COVID-19, keeping at least 2 international judges until December 2022.

PRESIDENT OF THE JURY: Catad'Or World Wine Awards ensures the smooth running of the event and appoints a president of the jury. The president of the jury is the recognized Master of Wine Alistair Cooper MW.

The technical panel of the competition and the commissioners OIV, ANIAE, UIOE and VINO FED are in charge of verifying the respect of the regulations, the preparation of the samples, the organization and the realization of the tastings and their appreciation thanks to the OIV file, as well as the control, exploitation and publication of the results.

TASTING SESSIONS

The wines will be tasted according to their category (type, variety), the samples being covered in a neutral packaging that hides their shape and label and guarantees their anonymity. The appreciation of the wines will be descriptive and will include comments on:

- Visual aspect
- Olfactory aspect
- Impression on the palate
- Product harmony

After delivery of the results, the participating companies will be able to access from their private account the detailed score per tasting table for each of their wines submitted.

ARTICLE VII: SAMPLE PREPARATION

The samples will be received in our warehouse and stored in a secure cellar with temperature control. Once the documentation is verified, they will be coded and entered into the computer system where they will be classified by strains. Later they will be transferred to the tasting place where they will be received in a room adjacent to the tasting room, to be administered by qualified personnel who will ensure the temperature and order of tasting according to the grape variety, vintage and residual sugar, and production method for sparkling wines (Charmat or Traditional). The jury will not have access to this logistical room. The wines will be served entirely covered ensuring the anonymity of the samples.

TASTING TEMPERATURE:

- The wines will be preferably tasted at the following temperatures:
- White and rosé wines: 10 to 12 °C
- Red wines: 15 to 17 °C
- Sparkling wines: 7 to 9 °C

ARTICLE VIII: VARIETY CATEGORIES AND CODES

Each competing wine must be registered in one of the categories and variety codes indicated in the registration form by means of a name and code. The competition is open to all varieties*.

If at the time of registering a wine, its variety or wine region is not available in our records, please send an email to concurso@catador.cl to request its incorporation.

The wines that are identified with a variety must be made with at least 85% of it.

Wines that are identified as dry must have a residual sugar content equal to or less than 4.5 grams per liter.

The organizers will consider this information and the information provided in the registration form to organize the correct service of the wines in the tasting sessions.

TYPE WINES

SPECIAL CATEGORIES

ICON WINE

Wines with a value equal to or greater than USD 35 per 750 cc bottle consumer price can be registered in the Wine Icon category. These wines will be tasted and evaluated together with their peers in a special session. Before tasting they will be decanted for 2 hours.

SMALL PRODUCTION WINE

Producers who consider their wines according to the concept of this category may participate. Small Productions or Garage Wines are understood as those wines of small productions of less than 10,000 liters and all micro, small, medium and large wineries that have wines produced with these characteristics can participate. Producers may choose to participate with these wines in this category or in the general category.

NATURAL WINE

Although there is no uniform definition of natural wine, it is generally produced with respect for the land and working methods away from chemical care and mass production, without the use of pesticides or herbicides and with little or no additives. Those wines that correspond to this description may participate in this category and will be evaluated among their peers. The contest reserves the right to relocate a wine that does not comply with these precepts.

ANCESTRAL PEASANT WINE

Wines that comply with EXEMPT RESOLUTION N° 153/2017 SAG can participate as "Vinos Campesinos"
<http://www.minagri.gob.cl/gobierno-lanza-nueva-clasificacion-vino-campesino-para-small-producers/>

CANNED WINE

Canned wine is wine packaged in a can. Driven by demand for small format, convenient and environmentally sustainable packaging for wine, wine in a can has boomed in Asian markets for over a decade and more recently in the USA, Canada, United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand and the world.

ARTICLE IX: MEDALS AND TROPHIES

The total number of medals awarded by the jury may not exceed 30% of the universe of wines submitted to the competition. In relation to the scores obtained in the tasting sessions, the numerical averages by which the competing wines may aspire to the following prizes will be determined:

- o Great Gold Medal (reference 93 points or more)
- o Gold Medal (reference 89 to 92.9 points)
- o Silver Medal (reference 85 to 88.9 points) *

*Some scores could not obtain the medal because the total number of medals awarded by the jury cannot exceed 30% of the wines presented in quantity.

A producer can receive a maximum number of 12 medals.
